DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's amendment dated 03/29/2006 has been received and entered. By the amendment, claims 1-9 and 16-18 are now pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1-2, 4-9 and 16-18 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C 102(e) as being anticipated by Liu, US Patent No. 6549257, as stated in the previous office action.

The above claims are anticipated by Liu's figures 3, 4, 6G and accompanying text which disclose a liquid crystal display (LCD) module comprising:

- . a first substrate (TFT substrate 408);
- . a second substrate (color substrate 409);

Art Unit: 2871

- . at least one square frame-shaped bump (301) and a first polarizer (401) formed over the first substrate (408);
- . at least one H-shaped bump (303) and a second polarizer formed over the second substrate (409) as claimed, wherein the frame-shaped bump and the H-shaped bump are made of photoresist material (col. 6, ln. 36) as well as corresponds one to one with (figure 6G);
- . a liquid crystal layer (407), wherein the dielectric constant of bumps are smaller than that of the liquid crystal layer (e.g., dielectric of photoresist material compared to liquid crystal layer);
- . a thin film transistor (TFT) inherently formed over a TFT substrate (408);
- . a pair of compensation film (403 and 404).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 3 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Liu, US Patent No. 6549257, as stated in the previous office action.

Regarding claim 3, although Liu does not disclose a polarizer formed over the first substrate, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ polarizers over two substrate instead of one side of one substrate, since it has been held that rearranging parts of an invention involves only routine skill in the art for correcting light in an LCD module, so as to improve display characteristics.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 03/29/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants' argument is that Liu does not disclose the H-shaped bump of the claimed invention as in claim 1 (amendment, page 8). The Examiner is not convinced by this argument since the same is true of the Liu's H-shaped bump (e.g., figure 6G).

Accordingly, the rejection of the above claims stand.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
